The opinions expressed in this column are the personal views of the writer and do not necessarily reflect those of the management in fact, on some times they do not.

STRANGE MIXTURES

There are some strange and peculiar ingredients being thrown into the political pot these days, and what the mixture that finally comes out of it will be, no man, with certainty, can tell.

And more strange things will go into the cauldron when Congress meets next month. However, from all indications, the potions designed for the pot will be extremely mild, in contrast to penal legislation enacted at the previous session. There is a reason for this. The dawn of 1936 marks the advent of election year, and parties in power are always wary when it comes to passing laws that will arouse sentiment against them or alienate any of their following. If Congress can be held in check its meeting will prove to be of the innocuous variety.

But campaign years are the time when Congressmen are looking after their own political futures and are not so much concerned as to what happens to the president.

VECTIOUS PROBLEMS

Despite all attempts to keep the lid on, there are a couple of questions that will spell grief for many of our solons—the bonus and the Townsend pension plan. All indications point to the passage of a modified bonus bill and its approval by the president. Whether the veterans will be satisfied is another and more important question, viewed from a political angle. Any half-measure, offered as a sop, will fail to pacify or appease them.

Equally if not more potential in its possibilities for political disaster is the Townsend bill. The Democrats have already announced

Divorce Decree
Paves Way For Two Marriages

MARTINEZ, Dec. 27.—Dissolution of a marriage yesterday afternoon by Superior Judge A. F. Bray today had paved the way for two weddings.

Immediately after Mrs. Nellie Clarisa Hay, 47, 722 Sixteenth street, Richmond, secured a final decree of divorce from Moses Trader Jack Hay, 47, they made their way to the county clerk's office with prospective new mates to file applications for marriage licenses.

Hay is to wed Cora Pearl Price, 42, of Richmond and Mrs. Hay is to become the bride of Kenneth G. Francisco, 35, also of Richmond.

New Trial Given In Damage Case

MARTINEZ, Dec. 27.—A new trial in the $7,413.91 automobile collision injury action filed by Norman Hall of Martinez, and his wife, Marie Hall, against the Associated Oil Company and John Cassidy was granted by Superior Judge A. F. Bray today.

Judge Bray granted retrial of the action on the grounds that new evidence had been discovered.

A jury on October 24 of this year gave judgment in favor of the defendants, denying damages to Hall and his wife.

Their action, filed through Attorneys A. B. Tinning and T. H. DeLap of Martinez, charges that in a mishap on the Ice House road, near Pittsburg, on January 27, 1935, Mrs. Hall was seriously injured. She suffered a fractured right arm, two broken ribs, contracted lobar pneumonia and suffered other injuries, it was asserted.

LONDON, Saturday, Dec. 28.—UP—King Leopold of Belgium who landed at Dover yesterday for what was described as a private trip to England has come as an interned guest of Great Britain and Italy, the Daily Mirror reported today.

Leopold's visit was prompted by Italy's desire to have Britain urge League of Nations' modifications of existing economic and military sanctions against Italy and definite abandonment of the threatened oil embargo against the fascist state, the newspaper said.

TODD CASE

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27.—UP

The death of blonde Thelma Todd, sparkling film actress, tonight was ready to be filed away among the musty records of the film colony's "unsolved mysteries" as grand jury investigators never a dead end in their inquiry.

Dark-eyed Pal DeCicco, Miss Todd's divorced husband and supposedly one of the "key witnesses" in the investigation, was hustled before the grand jury after a spectacular trans-nation plane dash.

NO INFORMATION

Fifteen minutes later he emerged, smiling cynically and walked off, while Foreman George Rochester admitted DeCicco had been "unable to give us any information which had any bearing on the case."

The failure of DeCicco to offer important testimony virtually threw the inquiry into the lap of Roland West, Miss Todd's unidentified "angel." Unless West's testimony before the grand jury produced "tangible" evidence, Deputy District Attorney George Johnson said the case will be closed.

Big Doings At El Cerrito Dog Track Tonight

A night of night at a greyhound track!

Attractions crowding one another to the maximum!

That's the program at El Cerrito Kennel Club track tonight, where crowds set to do in a Pot of Gold, claim six of the best in the 5-16-mile championship, which Louis Lanza, star 16-mile champion, won four weeks ago in action, and stay for the dog wrestling between Toe Brooker and Red Francis, University of Denver 175-pounder.

The dog event is actually a combination of four distinguished events where the winning blankets on the several make up a mudslide which rides into the Pot of Gold, an innovation on the Pacific Coast, and popular with El Cerrito crowds.

Turning to the post in the noted championships will be the Bay and Hastings' Globe Trotter, Another Aristocrat, Starlight, Starlight and Shawnee Belle, all tried and true over the route. Hastings' record of two consecutive wins on his only appearance at El Cerrito stamps him as a feared newcomer, but he is headed into the best company tonight and many think he will be nearly poised to finish ahead of the pack.

BETROTHALS ANNOUNCED CHRISTMAS

MARTINEZ, Dec. 27. The holiday meant something more than the traditional Christmas celebration to two Contra Costa county employees, whose betrothals were announced informally to friends on Christmas day.

Miss Jeanne Le Gault, deputy in the office of the county superintendent of schools, today was receiving the congratulations of friends on her engagement to Albert Peterson. Both are residents of Richmond and both graduated from Richmond high school.

The other engagement, coming as pleasant news to many acquaintances, is that of Miss Evelyn Casazza, secretary for Dr. Thomas Boyer, county probation officer, and Harry H. Kerlin.

Both weddings are planned for the summer. Miss Le Gault's in the early part of the season and Miss Casazza's in late summer.

Miss Le Gault is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Le Gault of Richmond. Preceding her work in the county superintendent's office here, she was in the office at the Richmond high school.

Her fiance is the son of James E. Peterson, also of Richmond, and is an employee of the Standard Oil company.

Miss Casazza is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Casazza of San Pablo and an alumna of Richmond high school. She has been in Dr. Boyer's office since 1933. An active worker in the Y. L. L. she is secretary of Richmond Institute.

Kerlin is associated with the American Creamery in Richmond.

LOCAL COUPLE ARE MARRIED AT OAKLAND

Leo S. Sasseone and his bride, the former Miss Charlotte R. Redfield, are now at home to their friends at 717 Rider avenue, following their marriage Christmas eve at Oakland.

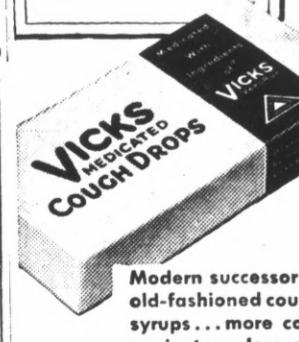

Both Sasseone and his bride attended the wedding, while Walter Gatto was best man.

A wedding supper was served at an Oakland hotel and the couple then came to Richmond.

Both Sasseone and his bride have spent most of their lives in this city. Both graduated from the local high school.

Sasseone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sasseone of 130 Fifteenth street and owns a local buffet. His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Redfield of 141 South Fifth street.

Bourbons Will Make Drive To Register Voters

Plans to secure the registration of all Democrats were formulated at a meeting held in the offices of Attorney Michael Dowling last evening.

The group was composed of the members of the county executive committee of the first supervisorial district, eleven in number. All voters are required to register anew at the beginning of the new year.

Plans were made by the legislators, abolishing present registration, and the committee members will make it their business to see that all people of their own persuasion in this district and as many others of opposite political faith who will register Democratic, vote on the rolls for the 1936 election.

To facilitate the registration of voters, City Clerk A. C. Paris yesterday announced deputies for this state's 10th.

HILO, T. I., Dec. 27—UP—Five army planes today simultaneously bombed fiery lava flows threatening Hilo's water supply, the Wallaki river.

Clouds of steam and smoke mushroomed skyward as the high explosive projectiles exploded with a terrific detonation.

The bombs were dropped at a point about five miles below the headwaters of the river. Creeping, fiery red streams of lava were but a few miles from the water course, and it was hoped the bombs would divert them.

Planes circled over the bombed sector, trying to ascertain results.

Overnight the ruddy flow of molten rock from the volcano Mauna Loa, in spectacular eruption since November 21, had progressed nearly a mile in tortuous streams down the 14,000 foot high mountain slopes.

Grazing land and timber were ravaged by the fiery stream as it ate its way along the ground, burning every combustible thing in its path.

Ranchers were evacuating sheep and cattle from the path of the oncoming lava.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

The Technique of Applying Bandages Comes Under Head of an Art

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

IT HAS been hundred years since, in Switzerland, a certain small monograph was published describing the many ways in which an ordinary handkerchief could be used for a bandage, either for protection, or for support. From that, the idea evolved that different shapes of cloth, square, oblong, or triangular, could be used and great interest was shown in applying them to various parts of the body.

The different styles were given high sounding names of famous people. One was known by the special title of "the bandage of Galen," who was the celebrated ancient medical authority.

This bandage was a small, wide strip, the head, end and cut.

These tails went in pairs, forward and back and down under each other.

This dressing was composed called "the poor man's bandage" for once these tails were tied in a knot, they were there to stay and afforded the safety of a head covering as well as protection for a wound.

The day of cumbersome and haphazard coverings for diseased areas is long past. The technique of supporting bandages is now a matter of science and skill.

Are Ready Now.

Huge manufacturing plants are busy turning out strips of varied widths and textures and also pads of many shapes and sizes for producing pressure for many purposes. The careful householder now keeps these assortments on hand for use in case of emergency.

Many of the dressings can be bought already medicated and equipped with adhesive tape to hold them in place. Even the matter of drainage in suppurating infections is provided for.

This particular article is interesting, not only in covering cuts or abrasions, or even festering sores, but in calling attention to the many ways in which a bandage can afford both additional comfort and actual recuperative relief.

Any surface to be covered with a bandage should be perfectly clean. I can remember when I was a boy and came in with a bruise or cut. It was told to "just lap it up," which was a colloquial way of telling me to wrap or bind it with anything I could find and the it was a stain.

These days we are first interested in having a sore or injured place clean before it is dressed, because infection must be avoided. Any injury, especially in a young person whose bones are still green, should be given the support of a bandage until all danger of complications is passed.

In many cases of cracked ribs, a knecap chipped, a shin bone bruised, the matter is overlooked as of little consequence until some malformation or deep seated trouble develops.

Can Avoid Trouble

A supporting pressure on the cracked bone tissue to keep it from bending or to control the blood supply might avoid the trouble. We see a series of cases where wrist, ankles, shoulders, etc., and even the hip slip out of its appointed places because the socket is not large enough to hold the head of the long bone in place.

This is not only very painful, but may eventually give serious trouble. The joint should be strapped into place and general treatment used to build up the bone.

Then there are miseries without number in the back, legs, or feet where a properly applied supporting bandage would mean the difference between disease and health, or at least between suffering and comfort.

All sorts of intestinal troubles, including the so called "dropped stomach" are due to a faulty placement of the abdominal contents, which can be greatly relieved or even cured by the proper arrangement of supports.

To be sure, the market is flooded with all sorts of contraptions designed to support the abdomen. We repeat the application of pressure or support is a technique calling for scientific skill and judgment. A professional diagnosis is needed to decide upon the exact steps that must be met.

Makeup Gives Exciting Glow To the Eyes

By JACQUELINE HUNT

YOUR eyes should have about them the exciting glow that only love, an absorbing interest, zest in life and perfect health can give. In addition, you can help the sparkle and add to the expressiveness of your eyes through the skilful use of eye cosmetics.

Yesterday's column outlined the steps to caring for the health of your eyes—but we didn't mention the convenient little kits containing eye lotion, eye cream, astringent and eye pads that are such big aids to the health and comfort of your eyes. Several beauticians have these little kits that are especially nice for traveling.

You should also take eye exercises daily. Of course, it is hard to find time to think about special exercises for the eyes—but these are so simple you can do them several times a day whenever you feel a bit tired or your eyes are strained from reading or other work that requires close attention.

Blinking the eyes is one form of exercise which releases the tiny muscles and nerves. Another that can be done almost as easily: open your eyes as wide as you possibly can and count three. Close your eyes, releasing all of the muscles and count three. Repeat this opening and closing ten times.

This exercise strengthens all of the little muscles controlling the eyes and actually aids the eyesight.

Now for eye makeup. It is becoming more and more the fashion even for daytime wear and there is nothing that brings out the color and depth of the eyes as well as a deft blending of eye shadow. But remember to use it and all eye make-up—with a light, skillful hand.

Never powder over the eyelids, and try to keep powder well out of the creases of the eye socket so the delicate skin is left moist and slightly darker than elsewhere on your powdered face. This makes the eyes appear larger and avoids emphasizing any tiny lines about them. A tiny dab of oil or cream on the eyelids makes them look moist and transparent and blends your eye shadow more smoothly.

As a young man he was a ship's clerk on Front Street, clearing sailing ships for distant ports. That's how he got interested in the export business. He first went to England as a representative of the Columbia Phonograph Company, although he insists it was as a salesman with a tin horn that he began in the tenement district. He has been away from the United States more than thirty years, so the East Side holds a nostalgia for him. He recalls without difficulty the days when he played cops and robbers with the boys of his neighborhood. The boys were a mixture of Irish, German and Italian blood.

There is always some suggestion of color about the eyes. Sometimes the eyelids may be faintly blushed or purplish with a tinge of tiny veins. In this case a bluish or purplish eye shadow.

Otherwise, choose a shade that deepens or enhances the color of your eyes.

Remember to apply shadow lightly and only to the upper lid. Apply a line of color more deeply near the lashes and then blend it outward and up toward the eyebrows and temples. Any of the more vivid shades of eye shadow may be used for daytime wear. If the color is softly and sparingly blended on only the lower part of the lids.

Other details of eye makeup are discussed in my leaflet, "Glamorous Eyes," which may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to this paper.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "I need some facial shampoo, and manicure once a week and spend a lot more than I can afford for good beauty preparations, and yet I never really look well. My skin is sallow and inclined to be oily, although I have no bad blemishes. The skin on my hands is rough and coarse, and my hair looks stringy and neglected before the week is up." SALLY.

Most of us are in a bind, and this is what you need. Try scrubbing your skin thoroughly at night with a complexion brush and bland soap, rinsing well and patting with a good skin tonic. Use one of the stimulating cream masks occasionally. Proper diet, a daily cleansing bath, and some exercise will do a great deal to clear your skin. Brush your hair every night, and wash your hands with a good lotion every time you wash them. Cuticle oil will help around the fingertips to keep your nails and hands soft and neat between manicures.

If you want to have a grand time over the holidays start now getting a little extra rest and extra daily exercise. Eat lightly and do not worry if you lose two or three pounds. Remember there will be bowls of fruit, candy and sweets, but do not let these parties with late and bounteous suppers and upset schedules.

Give your skin some extra care using your softening creams and tonics conscientiously, and use an occasional stimulating preparation to make your skin as soft and clear as possible for your holiday parties.

QUESTION: "What is the correct way to decorate a church for a christening?" P. L.

ANSWER: As a rule, the decoration consists of flowering plants and palms. These are placed about the font.

Those who are basking in warmer climates are finding some ideas in bathing suits. Here is a bathing ensemble of celanese jersey with an anchor doing duty both decorative and important.

Narrow Silhouette Reigns With Panels Placed Front

By IRENE VAIL

New York—Get your mind off shopping for a minute while I relate what is important to know and what was gleaned in a brand new collection of French and native designed clothes.

It is of interest that in a great many of the dresses, both formal evening and daytime dresses, the harem hemline, that is, the looped-over-the-hem panel, is prominent. This is to say a narrow silhouette prevails, with these panels in front in most of the daytime dresses and at back in more dramatic effects combined with skirts for evening.

This tunic silhouette, though not flared, is apparent in several daytime costumes, notably an ensemble with straight hanging coat of three-quarter length entirely covered in vermicelli braid which suggests the curl of Persian lamb, the trim decorated with a braid of the most vivid shades of eye shadow may be used for daytime wear. If the color is softly and sparingly blended on only the lower part of the lids.

It's difficult to conceive that women, accustomed to the bodily freedom their clothes have permitted them recently, should be contemplating going back to the boned corset. Yet such is the case, so the corset industry assures me. Boned corsets are being asked for, say, so boned corsets are being rushed in order to supply the demand of women who believe their smart clothes will look all the smarter over firmly corseted figures.

It's all part of the surprise element our sex is expected to contribute to life. Do you remember never going back to the long skirt, the long, narrow panel, to hats loaded down with flowers and feathers? Well, there's every reason to know they have gone back to long skirts and that, while hats are not loaded with either flowers or feathers, both are being worn. All of which makes the return to the boned corset a sort of logical step. We have gone back to long skirts, but when we feel like wearing them we feel like wearing them.

SEVEN DEAD IN ACCIDENTS IN BAY AREA

automobile carrying four men crashed into a power pole and overturned. Gilley died in the French hospital.

Friends and bystanders rushed to help him out of the wreckage of the car because of danger of fire from a trick of gasoline that was raining toward running power wires, which were down in the crash.

SHRIDE IS FOUND

The body of Mrs. Margaret Baker, 61 Alameda, was found in the waters of San Francisco bay. Relatives said she had been suffering from a nervous disorder.

The body of Mrs. Orie Vuhore, 42 wife of a Japanese strawberry grower living near Santa Cruz, was found in the sea near Capitola. She had been despondent because of ill health.

FRONT IS OPENED

The Marin county sheriff's office ordered the California Chemical plant closed temporarily, pending an investigation of the explosion that killed Bracie.

Windows in the city of Newark were shattered by the blast.

Brode, a British war veteran, who won commendation for bravery in the Dardanelles campaign, is survived by a wife and three children.

Eleven men swam through heavy seas to safety when the San Domingo沉没ed on the Marin coast. Coast Guard boats that went to the scene said it was doubtful if the $16,000 craft, owned collectively by the crew, could be salvaged.

CUTTING ARGUMENT

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. A knife battle in a local beer tavern sent two men to the South San Francisco hospital today. They are Andrew Popaleo, 39, 415 First Lane and Peter Baldocchi, 40, 231 Bado Avenue. Both suffered fatal injuries. According to police, Popaleo drew a knife at the height of an argument and sliced Baldocchi across the face. He is charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Broom Strike

HOUSEWIVES of Sunnyside, L. I., sweep the sidewalk in front of the Court House to demonstrate against the foreclosure sales in their district. Original idea of home owners was to reduce mortgage interest of 6 percent, but mortgage holders say they were forced to foreclose because no payments were made.

their intention of the wife to overboard. That may sound like an easy thing to do but personally I would not care to be a party to any such procedure. The repercussions would be too violent to be pleasant. Agree or disagree with the Townsends, their admitted millions of followers are a force to be reckoned with in any election. While I take little stock in their talk of a third party I would not, if a candidate, care to have their phalanxes arrayed against me.

MORE TROUBLE LOOMS

More trouble looms on the horizon. If the Supreme court, in line with precedent set in its decisions on New Deal measures, deals a death blow to cases now pending before it, and on which rulings are expected the early part of January. New legislation would be necessary to replace that scrapped which with an alert opposition might prove very embarrassing.

EXCITEMENT FOR ALL

With such a brew who can foresee what will happen politically? One thing is certain and that is additional issues will come out of the pot and on these the election may hinge. In any event we are bound to see there will be no drab and prosaic campaign and those who thirst for political excitement will get it in abundant measure.

ITALIANS IN RETREAT AS AFRICANS HIT

elascie's troops in several districts in the rear of the commanding army announced today.

One thousand warriors have captured a series of strategic positions which enabled the Italians to retreat from Acria via Adys, to the Tarento region, the communiqué added.

The retreating Italian soldier of many cities and a number of ammunition strewn on the ground, the communiqué asserted. The Ethiopians also reportedly captured a number of men.

ATTACK BEATEN BACK

DOLO, via COURIER TO MOGADISHU, Italian Somaliland, Dec. 27. (UPI) A surprise Ethiopian attack on December 1 on an Italian outpost on the southern front was turned back by seven Dukats that were sharpshooter without loss to a man.

During the two-hour battle, in which the Italians were greatly outnumbered, six Ethiopians were killed and many more were wounded.

NINE ITALIANS KILLED

ROME, Dec. 27. (UPI) Nine Italian soldiers were killed and 50 more wounded yesterday by a strong Ethiopian force in a bitter skirmish in the northern front, an official communiqué announced today.

Ethiopian losses were said to be heavy. The battle occurred in Afar Pash, in the treacherous terrain of the Takkala river sector. The Ethiopians were repulsed, the communiqué said.

LEAGE FACES FAILURE

PARIS, Dec. 27. (UPI) The League of Nations' failure if it attempts to interpret the covenant literally in solution of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, Premier Piero Laval told the Chamber of Deputies today in a fighting defense of its peace efforts.

Since the League has lost Japan and Germany and cannot claim to enjoy a semblance of universality, it should take advantage of its possibilities, Laval said.

VOTE IS ASKED

The swarthy-skinned premier, a sombre little figure in long black coat and white necktie, pleaded earnestly for a vote of confidence in his attempt to end the East African war and prevent conflagration in Europe. Tomorrow Laval will stake the life of his coalition government on a vote of support. Politicians believe he will win by a slim margin.

The Premier's reference to the League's weakness was interpreted as his excuse for the proposal Laval and the ailing Sir Samuel Hoare cooked up on the historic weekend of December 7-8.

Officers Named By 20-30 Club

WALT CAGLE, 550 pounds and self-conscious, forces himself to make one trip a year to the city of Boaz, Alabama, to get a pair of overalls and some heavy underwear. His visit has become such an event that this year he was greeted by a crowd of 4,000 and given the key to the city.

Some Boy

Information gathered from Butte underworld characters by police indicated the fugitive is a confirmed narcotics user and the belief was prevalent that the craving for the drug would force him to return to Butte.

across snow-covered hills between here and Anaconda tonight.

A day-long search of the M-1 creek district near Anaconda indicated that William Henry Knight was heading for the mining city in a desperate effort to escape pursuing posse.

DRIVERS WARNED

Motorists using the Butte-Anaconda-Deer Lodge highway were warned not to pick up hitchhikers.

Knight is being sought for the slaying Christmas day of Police Officer Thomas O'Neill, and Frank Walsh, youthful grocery store clerk.

To this record has also been added another killing—that of Floyd Woods, caretaker of a ranch at Hutchens Bridge near Ennis, Mont.

BODY IS FOUND

Woods was killed Thursday. His body was found early today lodged against a sandbar a hundred yards below the bridge. Knight apparently having thrown it in the river. He was shot through the face just under the left eye.

Officials had been searching for the caretaker since early Thursday afternoon when he and his car were reported missing and bloodstains had been found near his garage.

IS DRUG ADDICT

The car was found later in the Mill Creek district between Anaconda and Divide, the seat cushions and a blanket stained with blood. The car in which Knight originally escaped from Butte was also found, about five miles from Hutchens bridge, stuck in a snow bank.

TOOK OFF 17 LBS. OF UGLY FAT

HEEDED DOCTOR'S ADVICE

Mrs. Robert Hickey, Roseville, Calif., writes: "My doctor prescribed Kruschen Salts for me—he said they wouldn't hurt me in the least. I've lost 17 lbs. in 6 weeks. Kruschen is worth the high gold price."

Mrs. Hickey paid no attention to gossipers who said there was no safe way to reduce. She wisely followed her doctor's advice. Why don't you?"

Get a jar of Kruschen to-day (baths 4 weeks and costs but a trifle). Simply take half teaspoonful in cup of hot water every morning. All druggists.

SHERIFF ON THE TRAIL OF FUGITIVE

said every character in the missive compared with Mrs. McCord's personality but Long Island authorities reported that the woman investigated only partly fitted the description.

COST IS NOMINAL

"It would cost approximately $1,500 to circulate the entire nation, but for $50 we can reach more than half of the 117,000,000 residents of the U. S." the sheriff stated. "I have checked up on the various cities and learned that printing and mailing of 1,000 circulars to cities of 20,000 population or greater will cover half of the population of the country at a $50 cost."

Mrs. McCord fled after she was indicted for embezzlement. The sheriff has offered $150 reward personally.

WANT'S CASE ENDED

"I am more interested in cleaning up this McCord matter than any other case on our files," he said.

The description of Mrs. McCord given in the circulars, which already have been dispatched throughout the United States, is as follows:

"This woman may be engaged in hospital or welfare board work, as by occupation she is a social service worker. Wears octagon pin-nose glasses, generally wears tailored-style suits, small turban hats; maiden name, Ruth Wisdom; age 36; height, 5 feet 9 inches; eyes, hazel; hair, black, boyish bob; complexion, olive; build, medium heavy; nativity, American."

June at Seventh street and Macdonald avenue yesterday morning.

The woman, police say, walked into the path of the approaching car.
